

Study of UV atmospheric background for UHECR detection from space, Humberto Salazar

Abstract content

We present the results of the studies of UV atmospheric flashes as a source of background in the detection of Ultra High Cosmic Rays from space. The data were obtained by using a UV detector in the Tatyana satellites I and II. Plans for near future in the new Satellite Lomonosov are presented.

Summary

Primary author(s) : Dr. SALAZAR, Humberto (Fac. Cs. FIS-MAT, BUAP)

Presenter(s) : Dr. SALAZAR, Humberto (Fac. Cs. FIS-MAT, BUAP)

Session Classification : Session I I.E.PP